Furkutux is a really selfish and always has been. He sees the best in people and tries to turn it for his own self interest.

He joined this party because he thought he will probably be able to outlive them (elf) and inherit whatever they've built up over this time.